07/12/2021, 2:26 pm - Avinash Shrivastava: A: Conservation of total charge of an isolated system is attributed to the scalar nature of charges
R: All scalar quantities are conserved
07/12/2021, 2:26 pm - Avinash Shrivastava: Charge is a scalar (invariant) under rotation so it is also invariant for other frame of reference in relative motion. All scalar are invariant for frame of reference in relative motion 07/12/2021, 2:26 pm - Avinash Shrivastava: A: The electric field due to a charge configuration with total charge zero is zero.
R: Dipole is an exception
07/12/2021, 2:26 pm - Avinash Shrivastava: Amrita stated that Gauss law is universal in nature. Having listened this statement Pritam put forward his argument which concludes failure of gauss law. Help Amrita to give counter argument to his argument.
Argument: I have enclosed a dipole in a Gaussian surface to find its electric field. Since charge enclosed within Gaussian surface was 0, the flux was also zero. It implies that Electric field is also zero but there exists electric field due to a dipole. Hence Gauss law fails here.
07/12/2021, 2:43 pm - Danish Siddiqui IIT Bombay: Gauss law lagate smay distance between dipole consider nhi kiya isliye

07/12/2021, 2:44 pm - Danish Siddiqui IIT Bombay: A is false
07/12/2021, 2:46 pm - Avinash Shrivastava: Kaisa gya paper
07/12/2021, 2:46 pm - Danish Siddiqui IIT Bombay: R is false
